George Jenkins Nets Winning Goal in Third Game Against Gunners at Medicine Hat to Put Coleman Canadians Into Alberta Finals

First Championship Series for Locals in Ten Years --- Town Runs Wild With Enthusiasm

Coleman's victory over Gleichen at Medicine Hat on Monday evening was acclaimed with wild excitement here. Many gathered at the C. P. R. depot, where first hand news came through from Bob Pattinson, secretary of the club, and when the overtime period in the second game played at "The Hat" resulted in the winning goal for Coleman, the boys went wild.

Immediately a telegram of congratulation was sent, for the victory gave cause for jubilation after the keen battle which the boys faced.

CROWS' NEST PASS TEAM ENTER INTERMEDIATE FINALS AGAINST OLDS

MEDICINE HAT, March 5.—G. Jenkins' goal on an assist from F. Brown in the first overtime period gave Coleman Canadians a 2-1 victory over the Gleichen Gunners, sending them into the finals against Olds for Intermediate Provincial honors. A great sheet of ice saw 1500 fans treated to the fastest game of hockey this season. Coleman were well worthy of their win, proving the aggressive team through two thirds of the game, and only the great goal tending of Wilson saved Gleichen net early in the first frame.

F. Brown took J. Fraser's pass to even the count in the second frame. Coleman took a decided edge in the third forcing the play all through. Joyce was through twice with only Wilson to beat, but the Gleichen custodian handled everything with cool judgment.

The overtime period was hardly under way when Jenkins on F. Brown's assist scored to send Coleman into the finals.

Lineup of Teams

Coleman Canadians — Cologrosso, Johnston, Kwamie, W. Fraser, Jenkins, F. Brown, Lilly, Joyce, Oliva, J. Fraser.

Gleichen Gunners—Wilson, Marquardt, Johnston, C. Brown, Bulmer, Maynard, T. Brown, McKay, Nelson, Simpson.

Officials—J. G. Mackie, Camrose; T. Knight, Medicine Hat.

Third period—No score. Penalties, J. Fraser (2) 2.00; Lilly 2.00; F. Brown 2.00; Marquardt 2.00.

A TIMELY REMINDER TO ROWDIES AT HOCKEY MATCHES

President Frank Creagan and the hockey club management point out that a number of boys and young men attending the play-off games have been very unrepresentative in their attitude towards visiting teams, complaints having come from several sources by local people and visitors. Boing, stealing hockey sticks and abusive language to players is detestable, and parents and older people are asked to co-operate in preventing this whenever possible. Visiting players are entitled to courtesy, the same as Coleman team deserves when it visits other towns. It is hoped this display of ignorance by offenders will be promptly squelched by true sportsmen and lovers of fair play.

W. Bell won the sweepstake on the Gleichen-Coleman hockey game here on March 1.

All Pass Towns Represented to Cheer Locals in Semi-Finals for Championship.

Fighting the hardest battle of the season, Coleman Canadians were victors over Gleichen Gunners last Thursday in the first of the finals for the hockey championship of the southern division of Alberta in the intermediate playoffs. Ice which became softer as the game progressed made good hockey impossible, yet so keen was the interest and so stubborn a battle waged that it kept a crowd of approximately a thousand people on their toes through the three periods.

Jimmy Anderson, referee, of the Calgary Albertan, brought roars of disapproval by disallowing a goal which Canadians claimed was fairly earned, thus depriving them of an extra goal lead in the series.

Gleichen opened with a swift attack on Coleman's goal, but Cologrosso maintained a defence which thrilled the fans. Up till the end of the second period it appeared likely there would be a scoreless game, as passing was difficult in the slushy ice and many long shots were played in the hope that a fluke goal might be scored.

In the third period Coleman kept the play mostly within Gleichen territory, it being the most hectic period. Jimmy Fraser on an assist by Duke Kwamie scored and Bill Fraser from a scrimmage scored the second for Coleman. Jenkins shot the puck into Gleichen's net, but the referee disqualified it on a technicality, claiming Jenkins shot in with his hand. A goal in the second period scored by Coleman was disallowed, much to the disgust of the fans, and Anderson, the referee, was given a hostile reception as the teams came out for the third period.

Penalties: Brown of Gleichen and Johnson of Coleman in first period; Marquardt of Gleichen twice in the third period and Johnson and Kwamie of Coleman.

With Johnson and Kwamie, Coleman defence players, both in the penalty box at the same time in the third, Gleichen had the best opportunity of the game, but Cologrosso turned everything aside. The line-up:

Gleichen: Wilson; Marquardt, Johnston; Maynard, C. Brown, Bulmer; L. Brown, Nelson, McKay, Simpson.
Coleman: Cologrosso; Kwamie and Johnson; J. Fraser, Bill Fraser, Lilly, Jenkins; Joyce, Oliva, Fred Brown.

TEAM APPRECIATED SUPPORT

The support of Coleman people who went to Medicine Hat was greatly appreciated by the hockey boys. Some went to both games, involving travelling between 850 and 900 miles, so keen was their enthusiasm and desire to see the home team win.

Among those who went to Medicine Hat to cheer the hockey team were Mayor Pattinson, A. M. Morrison, H. C. McBurney, J. A. McCleod, W. L. Rippon and R. F. Barnes.

Olds Won First Game of Finals

LAST NIGHT the first game of the Intermediate Finals was won by Olds, score 3-2. The next game here on Friday at 8.30 p.m., if won by Coleman, will necessitate a third game, on neutral ice, as games, not goals, decide the finals, best 2 of 3. Olds' goals were scored in the first period; Coleman scored one in the first and one in the third.

Retail merchants of the Pass towns were entertained at the Cosmopolitan hotel, Blairmore, by the Swift-Canadian Company on Friday evening, an illustrated address on store service being given, under the direction of the sales manager of the company, assisted by Milton Ray, sales representative covering the Pass towns. Over 50 were present, and a social half hour was spent following the address, refreshments being served in the hotel dining room. Many merchants expressed their appreciation of the instructive nature of the address, which was one of a series being given by the company.

Comparisons of a striking nature were illustrated of good and bad store service, showing details apt to be overlooked by many small storekeepers, but which loom very large in the eyes of the buying public, especially the ladies, who are so much quicker in noting defects than male purchasers.

The School Of Experience

People learn their most important and valuable lessons in the school of experience. It is a school that opens at birth and closes with death, and there are no vacation periods. We are passing through some experience at all times, and we are imbibing knowledge, learning something as a result. It may be that, like lessons learned in school and from books, we may forget some of the lessons of experience, for a time at any rate; even more frequently we may ignore and neglect the lessons which experience has taught us; nevertheless they have left their imprint upon our minds and have influenced our lives for well or for woe.

It not infrequently happens that a short, sharp lesson is learned never to be forgotten from some one brief experience. Something enters our lives—it may be a great sorrow or a great joy—which then and there alters the whole course of our lives. On the other hand, it is often the case that in order that a lesson may be effectively learned, the experience which is teaching it may be greatly prolonged in order that it may be impressed upon us in the way that is necessary. And while individuals may learn a lesson from some experience very quickly, it is usually a much slower process for communities and nations to so learn and profit by experience.

Consider the present economic upheaval throughout the world, now continuing into its fifth or sixth year. Some people, no doubt, learned valuable lessons from it during the first twelve-month of its duration; others have learned as the months and years have gone by. Communities and nations have learned some lessons, and some have, of course, learned more and faster than others. All are still learning; learning perhaps a little more thoroughly now than they were two and three years ago. But it is quite evident that the nations have not yet grasped, or at any rate accepted, the great truths which the Great Depression has been teaching any more than they grasped, or accepted, the great truths which the Great War should have impressed upon all mankind.

Possibly it is because man has not yet learned the lessons, or at least accepted the teachings of the existing depressed economic state, that the depression is so greatly prolonged and still continues. There are certain lessons which the nations of mankind must learn, and not only learn but put their learning and knowledge into practical effect, before the depression will be overcome. The longer the depression continues the more forcibly it is teaching those lessons. They are lessons being learned through a bitter experience, but it is the stupidity and unwillingness of man to learn obvious lessons that is prolonging this bitter experience.

The four years of death, horror, suffering and destruction of the Great War, together with its aftermath of trouble and losses, of which the present chaotic economic and financial situation is a part, have not taught the nations the utility of war. Surely they appreciate the teachings of the Great War and its outcome, but they absolutely will not take the lesson to themselves, with the result that the world is trembling to-day on the very brink of another terrible war.

But while the nations may thus be much slower than individuals to learn lessons they should learn and profit by, people in all countries are learning and in time their thoughts and their influence will direct the nations. It is, of course, much more difficult to bring a whole group or nation to accept a great truth as the result of experience than it is to get a few individuals to accept it. Individuals are now in ever increasing numbers learning valuable lessons as a result of the experiences through which they are passing, and which will not be easily forgotten but which will leave their imprint on several generations to come. It will take time to translate their views into community and national life and action. That evolutionary process, nevertheless, is under way.

It is inevitable, too, that out of the experiences of a transition period such as the present, many ideas and theories will be advanced in all sincerity and seriousness as the solution of existing ills. It has always been so in all transition periods in the world's history, and it will probably continue to be so at all times. Marked changes, mental processes of people, are quickened by the experiences through which they are passing, but in numerous cases this merely results in the adoption of faddist or extreme ideas, and these, advanced as cure-alls for existing ills, are, generally speaking, mutually destructive the one of the other.

Clear thinking, therefore, is one of the most essential requirements in times like the present. Our experiences should teach us not to act hastily. They should teach us to be on guard against committing other and equally great mistakes under the influence of a great depression. It is never wise to reach definite and far-reaching decisions beyond recall when we are either on the mountain peaks or at the bottom of the deep valleys.

In a word, in the school of experience we should learn that it is most important, vitally so, that we order and control our thinking powers, and apply them to the practical problems at hand in full realization of the fact that, while there is no short cut to betterment and perfection, betterment can be obtained by practical, united effort, while what is now may be regarded as ideal will, if and when realized, prove to be but a stepping stone to a still nobler ideal.

Majority Would Not Work

New York city authorities the other day began an experiment to see just what percentage of street beggars are really "deserving cases." They arrested 63 panhandlers on the streets, investigated them, and offered jobs to those who wanted them. Seven of the 63 were delighted to get the jobs. The other 56 being men who preferred begging to working, immediately were sent to jail.

Millions Made By Forgery

But Science Has Done Much To Aid In Detection

Between the scientist and the forger a relentless battle of wits is being waged. And although the reformed crook like telling the public that dishonesty does not pay, the forger is always one move ahead of the scientist. The Statistical Bureau of the League of Nations estimates that this lead costs society approximately twenty million dollars a year. That is the sum which forgers manage successfully to amass at the expense of the public and the State.

It is only of late years that science has been called upon to co-operate with the police in the detection of forgeries. This is especially true in England, for even to-day England has nothing to compare to the elaborately equipped laboratories which the French police have at their disposal in every important town.

Until quite recently it was still possible to get away with the easiest and clumsiest form of forgery, which consisted in rubbing or scraping out a figure or a name, polishing the roughened surface, and writing in a high figure or a different name. To-day chemists have discovered that by exposing the paper to iodine vapor, the condensed iodine permeates the damaged surface and forms a blot.

This simple but infallible test requires no special apparatus and can easily be applied by anyone. In many foreign banks handling large numbers of "travelers' cheques," which are the forgers' happy hunting ground, cashiers are supplied with special iodine capsules which require only the heat of a match to give off sufficient vapour to test any cheque which they may have reason to suspect.

The activity of the forger is not confined to the "dud" cheque or banknote. The manufacture of spurious works of art and paintings was until recently probably the most lucrative branch of crooked skillfulness. But it is in this field that science can be said at last to have won the upper hand. It art experts were to make full use of all the resources science has put at their disposal since the discovery of the X-ray, there need never be another faked painting on the market.

Exhibition Is Unusual

Many Interesting Exploration Relics Being Shown In London

The polar exhibition opened recently by the Royal United Service Institution in London is attracting many visitors for the exhibits include a vast collection of relics from the days of Frobenius and Cook to those of Scott and Shackleton. Among them is the camera which took the photographs of the south pole, Amundsen's flag and reckonings which told Scott that he had been forestalled, and the Union Jack which was hoisted at the pole. Another exhibit is the last stock of food carried by Scott and his companions, including the curry powder which Scott found gave him indigestion.

Native Flowers

Wider Use In Gardens Of Canada Is Urged

Wider use of native flowers in Canadian gardens was urged at Toronto at the closing session of the Ontario Horticultural Association's annual convention by Mr. J. A. Wilcox, of Ottawa.

The Rocky Mountains are full of wild flowers that have not been cultivated, many of them being varieties that would be ideally qualified to prosper in a rocky, arid state.

The Detroit Free Press says: "The temperate but firm tone of the report of conditions at the Children's Aid Society Shelter at Windsor which has been made by the Deputy Minister of Public Welfare for Ontario is impressive. What a contrast to the average governmental investigation in this country! Where we get talk and headlines for the newspapers, the Canadians get sober judgment and vigorous action."

Urges Water Survey

Speaker Advocates Spending Public Money On Building Dams In Saskatchewan

Asserting this was not the time for large expenditures of public money on buildings of a non-productive nature and commending the Saskatchewan government for its proposals contained in the speech from the throne to survey the provincial water situation, W. G. Ross, K.C., of Moose Jaw, urged the necessity of increasing the water surface of the province.

Mr. Ross was principal speaker at the annual banquet of the Saskatchewan branch of the Saskatchewan Fish and Game League.

Recent press despatches, Mr. Ross observed, indicated the federal government was considering a $50,000,000 works programme throughout the Dominion, of which Saskatchewan would get something less than $4,000,000. It also was intimated the money would be devoted to erection of public buildings. Regina, it was said, was seeking some $3,000,000 also for such purposes.

Yet, the speaker continued, the erection of these buildings simply added to the expense of government which already cost too much. Such works would help eastern industrial interests, but convey little benefit to Saskatchewan.

But, he stated, the Saskatchewan drought problem was one which affected the whole nation. By the poverty of the west, the east was deprived of lucrative markets. The relief problem was growing. Something of immediate benefit to the west should be done.

Dominion Drama Festival

Second Festival To Be Held In The Little Theatre, Ottawa

The second Dominion Drama Festival will be held in the Little Theatre, Ottawa, in the last week of April, when teams from all over the country will present plays in competition for the trophy presented by His Excellency, the Earl of Bessborough, governor general of Canada. During the weeks prior to the festival elimination contests are being held throughout Canada. Rupert Harvey, a distinguished English actor who was the adjudicator at the final competition in Ottawa last year is traveling across the Dominion acting as judge in the various eliminations.

Preliminary competitions are being held at Halifax, Saint John, Quebec, Hamilton, Ottawa, Kingston, Toronto, London, Winnipeg, Regina, Edmonton, Vancouver and other places. Many instances it has been found necessary, so great is the interest aroused to have eliminations prior even to those upon which Mr. Harvey will adjudicate.

From about 120 entrants it will be necessary for the adjudicator to select representatives of all the provinces to compete in the final competition at Ottawa. It is probable that the central committee of the festival will issue sufficient invitations to make a full week of performances in Ottawa.

J. T. Grein, one of the most distinguished figures in the English theatre and a well-known London critic, has been secured as the adjudicator at the final competition.

The stimulus which has been given to the community drama by the inauguration of the festival by His Excellency, the Governor General of Canada, has exceeded the highest hopes. In almost every instance, and despite the difficulty of the times, the older organizations have largely increased memberships and here, there and everywhere new groups are being formed.

Favors Mild Inflation

Adoption of a modified system of codes similar to that used in the United States, mild inflation, raising of commodity prices, state control of business from a modifying and regulating point of view, and clear thinking as a means of returning Canada to an economic state of prosperity were advocated by Premier Brownlee in addressing a banquet of the Alberta provincial board of the Retail Merchants' Association.

Motorists Pay The Shot

Alberta motorists contributed $24.10 of every $100 cash receipts collected by Alberta in 1932-33, according to a statement issued by the Alberta Motor Association. Of this amount $11.90 out of every $100 represented gasoline tax, while the balance was collected in registration and license fees.

Construction Program

Proposed Building Undertakings Will Stimulate Industry

Canada's recovery efforts are to be strengthened in the early spring by a moderate programme of building and construction—"moderate" compared with the gigantic United States plan "because we have not their resources"—Major L. L. Anthes, president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, said in addressing the Canadian Hardware convention and exposition delegates at Toronto.

Major Anthes said the proposed building programme throughout the country would stimulate industry. "It is obvious that such a programme will help your business and it will help ours," he said. "It will give work to many thousands and put money in circulation."

"We believe that our export trade will continue to increase in 1934. We have turned an adverse balance into a favorable balance of very large proportions. Canadian exporting firms are putting forth extraordinary efforts to maintain and extend the trade. The foreign goods in other countries. If their hopes are realized they will bring much business and, consequently, much employment to Canada during this year."

Vanishing Fortunes

American Millionaires Reduced To Five Thousand Since 1929

Large American fortunes are disappearing, remarks Mr. Samuel Cowther in the Cosmopolitan Magazine.

The five thousand millionaires who today survive the thirty years, and of 1929 still have a good chance to lose their fortunes before they die, says the writer, who observes that only one sizeable fortune, the Astor estate, is more than a hundred years old—the three really large ones the Ford, Rockefeller and Mellon estates, being still in the first generation. To find any fortune going back more than three hundred years, he says, one must turn to the Orient. Few of the Indian potentates know how old their fortunes are; some go back more than a thousand years. They keep their wealth in gold, silver and precious jewels.—Toronto Globe.

Protesters Gather In Hyde Park To Rap National Government

London.—Determined but peacefully, 2,000 unemployed from the provinces, augmented by several thousand London supporters, marched to Hyde park and held their long-heralded unemployment demonstration.

The air was filled with speeches, a couple of hours were consumed in adopting a resolution rapping the National government and its unemployment bill, and the protesters marched out again—very quietly.

It rained almost all morning and a cold damp mist swept the famous park during the afternoon, making the demonstration on the whole a rather drab affair.

Police, afoot and mounted, had little to do except for escorting the marchers from five gathering points to the park and handling a crowd estimated at 15,000, which flocked there to witness the spectacle.

Two marchers were arrested on a charge of obstructing police before reaching the park.

The demonstration was in protest of unemployment measures now before parliament. More than a month ago the march on the capital, supported by English Communists, began in Glasgow. At the park the marchers grouped around eight platforms, improvised from coal delivery wagons.

On one platform was Wall Hanington, one of the leaders of the National Unemployed Workers, who warned the government to "beware of the rising anger of the working classes" for "we are aiming to develop a mass strike movement" throughout the country with the object of establishing a workers' Socialist republic.

On other platforms the speakers in relays pounded the air in explaining the plight of the unemployed. They charged the government was doing "little about it."

After two hours of this, a resolution demanding withdrawal of the unemployment bill from the commons and the right of a deputation to appear there and state its case was carried on a show of hands. The groups then left the park under police escort.

One bareheaded man carried on his shoulder a tiny boy who waved a placard reading "Three sterling supports a society lady's dog for a week, two shillings for us."

B.C. Loggers Get Sympathy

Vancouver Mayor Approves Request For Permission To Hold Tag Day

Vancouver.—"I'm with the strikers," declared Mayor L. D. Taylor in placing his approval on a request by striking British Columbia loggers for permission to hold a tag day in Vancouver.

"The industry has been taking advantage of an unemployment situation to have this lone cheap," said his worship. "It is nothing more nor less than a racket and the sooner it is stopped the better."

No Liquor Ads Over Radio

Ottawa.—Action has been taken by the Canadian radio commission to prevent the broadcasting of liquor advertising, the commission revealed. Evasions of the rule banning this type of advertising had come to light and some broadcasts had mentioned names of brands of liquor or of distillery firms without identifying the names with the nature of the products.

Would Negotiate A Reciprocal Trade Treaty Between Canada And U.S.

Ottawa.—Negotiations aiming at a reciprocal trade arrangement between Canada and the United States moved a step forward when Prime Minister R. B. Bennett took the unusual course of referring to the house of commons the text of a statement issued to the press by United States Secretary of State Cordell Hull. This expressed the hope that at an early date steps might be taken looking to the completion of a trade agreement with Canada.

Following reports of the reciprocity debate in the house last week, Cordell Hull had issued a state-

Livestock Marketing

Charges Made Farmers Not Getting Square Deal

Winnipeg.—Charges that Manitoba farmers were not getting "a square deal" in the marketing of livestock were made in the Manitoba legislature as members discussed a resolution calling for an inquiry into price spread between the producer and consumer.

Doubts as to the efficiency of the present system were expressed by Hon. D. G. McKenna, minister of agriculture, who endorsed the resolution introduced by Dr. J. A. Munn (Prog. Dufferin). Dr. Munn said such an inquiry would lend valuable assistance to a federal government committee appointed to carry out a Dominion-wide investigation.

The public markets, Dr. Munn declared, were threatened with destruction through increased purchase by packers direct from farmers until today the packers controlled 62 per cent of the hog production of Canada. Public markets, he said, were the producers' only protection.

Burial Of Belgian King

Body Of King Albert Laid Away With Pomp Of Courtesy Cadets

Brussels.—The body of King Albert now lays in peace in the crypt of a little gray church near the Laeken royal castle. Albert was buried with the pomp of courtly custom. Between 30,000 and 40,000 Belgian war veterans who knew the dead king as their leader against the armies of Kaiser Wilhelm marched past the coffin before the procession started.

True to Belgian custom, no women took part in the ceremonies. The broken and widowed Queen Elizabeth and the future queen, Princess Astrid, remained in seclusion at Laeken Castle, while Crown Prince Leopold and his younger brother Charles followed their father's body afoot.

Canadians Will Compete

Complete Travels To Enter Britain's Empire Sports Event

Hamilton, Ont.—M. M. Robinson, honorary secretary of the British Empire Games Association of Canada, announced Canada's team for the London Empire games will sail from Montreal on the liner Duchess of York, July 20. The games will be held in and near London from August 4 to 11.

It will require at least $35,000 to finance the sending of men and women to London. Participants will include men and women swimmers, boxers, cyclists and lawn bowlers to England. Mr. Robinson said, but Canada plans to have complete teams in all six sports on the program.

New Territorial Force For Erie

Dublin, Irish Free State.—The ministry of defence announced a new territorial force would be established and its members would wear uniforms similar to those of the famous "Irish brigade" which Roger Casement, later hanged for treason, attempted to form in Germany for the 1916 Irish rebellion.

Toronto Daylight Saving

Toronto.—Daylight saving time from April 29 to September 29 was recommended for Toronto by the board of control.

PRINCE NEWSPEAPERS

In a recent speech at Ottawa, Dr. R. W. Boyce, head of the physics department, National Research Council, referred to a good newspaper as a "veritable university and a world embracing education." He added: "Anyone who has observed the press over a period of years will have seen a growth in idealism, accuracy, honour, truth and fairness."

Discipline In Jails

Hon. O. L. McPherson Defends Administration Of Alberta Institution

Edmonton.—Defending the administration in provincial jails, Hon. O. L. McPherson, minister of public works, declared here in the Alberta legislature that there was a great need for strict discipline in the institutions.

His declaration came in answer to a series of articles, purportedly written by an ex-prisoner and appearing in an Edmonton newspaper. "I do not uphold brutal treatment, nor is it sanctioned in these institutions, but there is the greatest necessity for the strictest form of discipline, otherwise there would be riots, outbreaks, bloodshed and death," asserted the minister.

Answering "black-hoax" allegations, he said that between April 1, 1931, and March 1, 1933, only 91 out of 3,463 prisoners passing through Fort Saskatchewan jail, named in the articles, received punishment in the form of solitary confinement for an average of 2.1 days each.

Drive Against Bootleggers

U.S. Government Brings New Weapon To Bear On Illicit Trading

Washington.—Urged on by President Roosevelt, the administration has undertaken an intensive drive against high liquor prices and bootleggers throughout the United States. The government has brought a new weapon to bear on the bootlegger, one designed specifically to wreck his modernized system of pouring the illicit product into legal channels.

Treasury officials said this was the new stamp tax, which became effective a fortnight ago. Under this law, every liquor container must bear a stamp. Behind the stamp is an elaborate inspection system and the provision that if it is not used or is illegally used a long prison sentence awaits the offender.

Feed Shortage In Ontario

Toronto.—The Ontario department of agriculture report livestock in most counties of the province suffering as a result of a serious feed shortage. Feed grains are particularly short, although supplies of hay and other roughage are adequate in most sections.

Central Bank Legislation

Some Details Regarding System Under Which Bank Will Operate

Ottawa.—The following are the highlights of the central bank legislation:

NAMES.—The Bank of Canada. Head office—Ottawa.

Capitalization—$5,000,000; shares offered the public at $100 with the chartered banks barred and no man allowed more than 50 shares.

Officials.—Governor, deputy governor and seven directors, to be chosen in the first place by the government.

The bank will issue paper money. The bank will perform the functions of a bank to rediscount for the chartered institutions.

It will take over the gold now held by the chartered banks as well as that owned by the finance department.

The bank will act as fiscal agent for the Dominion and might for the provinces.

The chartered banks will maintain deposits with the central bank. The bank will not engage in trade or business.

Dividends on capital will be limited to 6 per cent, with all profits in excess going to the national treasury. Shares will not bear the double liability features of ordinary bank stock.

Bank of Canada notes will be redeemable in gold bullion.

Thirty-Hour Week B'll

Arbitrary Ruling Could Not Be Applied To U.S. Industry

Washington.—Hugh S. Johnson, who has asked a lot of questions of other persons during the last few months, answered a few himself, during the course of which he told a house of representatives committee that he thought an arbitrary 30-hour week could not be applied to industry in the United States.

He went to the labor committee early in his hearing and sat by while General Swope, president of General Electric, voiced similar views against Chairman William Crampton's 30-hour work week bill. Both he and Swope took the attitude that hour reduction should come through the more flexible operations of N.R.A. codes.

"I think something has got to be done very promptly to shorten hours and raise wages," Johnson said, however, "and it is my intention to do more."

He explained that further shortening of hours should be in proportion to the return of business, "not in one bite, but in two or three bites."

Canada's Export Wheat Quota

Expected To Be In Vicinity Of 260,000,000 Bushels

Ottawa.—If the world wheat situation develops in accordance with the expectations of the farmers of the London wheat agreement last summer, Canada's export quota from the 1934-35 crops would be in the vicinity of 260,000,000 bushels, according to reliable information secured here. The Dominion's quota for the present crop year was 200,000,000 bushels.

The estimated quota for 1934-35 was arrived at by taking 26,000,000 as the average annual acreage sown in 1931-32-33, and 17.24 as the fair average yield per acre based on the yield over the 10-year period ending with 1933. Reducing the total by the proposed 15 per cent reduction in acreage, and subtracting the estimated domestic requirements of 117,000,000 bushels, would leave 263,000,000 bushels.

Total Cost Of The Hudson Bay Route Given As $53,000,000

Ottawa.—With the expenditure of $50,000 voted in the commons, the Hudson Bay route will be declared finished.

This was the feature of the statements made by Hon. Dr. R. J. Manion, minister of railways and canals. Total cost of the route will approximate $53,000,000, including the outlay at Nelson.

Dr. Manion said that with the expenditure this year he believed the government would have gone as far in equipping and developing the route as could be expected in the present financial condition of the country. The railway, the port and the seaway would be capable of handling a very much larger volume of traffic than had yet been offered.

He expected a distinct improvement in trade over the railway this season. Last year the deficit on the railway had been $163,000 and at the port $68,000. He believed the rail deficit might fall as low as $10,000 this year. Already three ships had been chartered—two by the Saskatchewan wheat pool and one by the trade and commerce department. The government's ship would carry 200 head of cattle and general cargo.

Negotiations for lower insurance rates were proceeding and he believed reductions would come gradually.

The cure for high freight rates was greater volume of traffic. Present insurance rates were five times higher than prevail on the St. Lawrence.

Additions to the facilities of the route this year would consist of cattle pens at The Pas and Hudson Bay Junction, otherwise expenditures would be confined to completing the road and port.

Of the total vote of $50,000, Dr. Manion said that $14,000 would be spent on the railway and the balance on the port.

Last year, he said, the work on the railway and at the port was largely completed and the present vote would make more money on a trip to Churchill than it could to Montreal. Nevertheless the shortness of the season was an obstacle. Insurance rates on cargoes had declined steadily. In 1931 the rate had been two per cent; in 1932 1½ per cent, and in 1933 1¼ per cent. The 1933 rate was about five times higher than the rate in force on the Montreal route.

Socialist Paper Seized

Chancellor Dollfus Organizing New Hope For Austrian Working Class

Vienna.—Chancellor Engelbert Dollfus took his first step toward organizing a new life for the Austrian working class by placing the director of the official news agency in charge of the seized Socialist party publishing house.

Through the former official Socialist organ, the Arbeiter Zeitung, Dollfus hoped to bring to the spirit of the new times, the government will endeavor to make it clear to workers "the government's Christian conviction makes it as a matter of principle the friend and protector of the working class."

Women's Franchise Defeated

Quebec.—Another six months' hoist to a measure proposing women be given the right to vote in provincial elections was given in the Quebec legislative assembly by a vote of 52 to 25.

Moccasin Telegraph

Demented Indian Tied To Stake To Protect Family

Winnipeg.—The "moccasin telegraph" is swift but not always accurate. The central figure in a distorted story of death by torture was revealed as a kindly Indian who insisted on being tied to a stake to avoid the risk of harming his family in sudden fits of insanity. "His torturers" were neighbors braves who slept by his side and brought him food and drink.

The story of Gagsana, the Chipekwan, was told by Sergeant Percy Rose of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. Early in December he was sent into the Lac Du Brochet country of northern Saskatchewan to investigate vague rumors a demented Indian had been tied to his sled and left to die in the recrudescence of "twisted" or "witched" death. That story had spread all through the north. The sergeant found the Indian died of natural causes.

Seven Per Cent. Is The Maximum Interest Under The Bank Act

Ottawa.—Seven per cent. will be the maximum rate of interest allowed in the amendments to the Bank act, Hon. E. N. Rhodes, minister of finance, announced in the house of commons. Banks charging a higher interest rate would be liable to fine not exceeding $500. Every officer of a bank who violated the maximum interest fixing clause would be guilty of an offence and liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding $100, the minister said.

"It will be recalled that much controversy has waged recently over the precise effect and the wisdom of the provision in the Bank act stipulating a maximum rate of interest," he remarked. "Experience in other countries has shown the attempt to restrict interest rates is usually ineffective and inexpedient in the public interest."

The Macmillan report had considered the choice laid between repealing the interest section in the bill as it now stood, or recasting this section so as to put it beyond doubt it was illegal to stipulate for more than seven per cent. in interest or discount. If recasting of the clause were decided upon the commission had suggested a penalty should be imposed for any infraction.

"After weighing the considerations pro and con," he continued, "the commission was unable to reach a unanimous agreement, although it might be well to point out that four members of the commission were of the opinion we should adopt the methods that had been found most effective in Great Britain of removing the limitation altogether. The fifth commissioner, however, contended that the statutory maximum still serves a useful purpose; that adequate reasons for repealing the section had not been adduced and that it ought to be retained. The present draft retains the statutory maximum, but provides for what we believe will be appropriate penalties in case of contravention."

HEIMWEHR TROOPS FOR VIENNA FIRING LINE

Truckloads of steel-helmeted and heavily-armed Heimwehr troops are shown speeding through Vienna on the way to battle against Socialists entrenched at strategic points in the city. Use of artillery became necessary later as troops found Socialists equipped with machine guns, grenades and rifles.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

THE REASON WHY

The Journal was not published last week owing to the lack of advertising revenue. It is impossible to print an eight-page newspaper on revenue which does not cover the cost of one page, and we feel an explanation is due to our subscribers and those advertisers who run steady contract advertisements. Apparently prosperity which has been around the corner for so long is still in hiding, as national advertising as well as local has shown very little change since 1929, despite persistent efforts to obtain business.

The Journal regrets having to cancel an issue, but however much faith, energy and optimism the publisher may possess, and a willingness to take an active part in community life, The Journal cannot operate and give service below cost of production.

Talk of a central hospital for Pass towns does not appeal strongly to Coleman miners, who for years have maintained an efficient hospital here. Being the largest town with the biggest payroll, it is unlikely Coleman would give up the facilities it now enjoys in hospital accommodation, which are far above any other town in the district.

Another thing, this talk recalls the unwillingness of other Pass towns to support the proposal made some years ago that Coleman be the place where a central high school should be built. This recommendation was made by the chief high school inspector of Alberta. The preponderance of opinion here is that Coleman will not play second fiddle to the tune others may call. It is willing to co-operate but not to the extent of helping to build up other towns at the expense of itself. Past experiences clearly demonstrate that a great deal of selfishness enters into these appeals for cooperation from Coleman people. We are here to build up Coleman. Frankly we tell it to the world. Business men who desire to add to the town's activity will support an aggressive policy. Coleman people have to run out of town for far too many services which should be obtainable here, and it is time they shook themselves out of an inferiority complex which has tended to retard the town's normal development.

The Journal has tried to hammer it into some business men whose activities are confined solely to their own shop counters. It has appealed for their support for the Board of Trade, which some say has received nothing more than sufficient to purchase postage stamps and a page in the Red Trail map.

The only way to make a town progress is for every business man to support an aggressive policy for commercial and industrial expansion. Individually and collectively much can be accomplished. Above all, set the example of sincerity in actions.

The Board of Trade executive spent considerable time and energy in November whereby a favorable freight rate was obtained on merchandise from Lethbridge, and a delivery system was inaugurated by the Canadian Pacific Express Co. The retail merchants passed a resolution in open meeting to ship their goods in by rail, as Coleman depended entirely on C.P. R. coal shipments for employment and general business.

Evidence indicates some are slipping from their good intention as expressed in the resolution, while trucking companies persist in cutting below the railway rates. One bad result follows all price-cutting wars, and that is wage cuts. Retail merchants of Coleman should for their own protection set the example of using the railroads for freight shipments, for every business without exception depends on coal used by Canadian Pacific locomotives. Eliminate this coal business and every individual in Coleman would be hunting a job elsewhere.

Efforts have been made to secure a more favorable freight rate from Calgary, but there is little encouragement to continue if retailers do not support the Board of Trade. They nullify the board's efforts by reverting to truck shipments. The public takes notice!

There is business today, but advertising must ask for it.

Coleman's Christmas Trees in 1903-1904

Further Interesting Reminiscences from Rev. R. A. Robinson, Coleman's First Clergyman.

Shelburne, N. S., Feb. 23, 1934.

The Editor,
The Coleman Journal.

I have just received copies of your paper containing my former letter of reminiscences. As you had first forwarded your Christmas number, I should like to give an account of the Christmas Community Christmas trees held in 1904 and 1905.

First though, let me recount an incident brought to my mind by the name of the town. I met one day an old lady who had come to see what the place was like. She remarked with slow and sedate manner, as she looked towards the International Mine: "I see now why this place is called Coal Mine." I think she was in earnest at that.

The 1904 tree was just about half that of 1905, in number of children and amount of money spent, so I shall describe mainly the latter. It was significant, by the way, that the number of children should double in one year. I told a friend at the time that it might be explained by the words of the Psalm—"The Fir Trees are a dwelling for the Storm."

Some weeks before Christmas, 1905, we got together about thirty citizens. These formed a general committee and they were divided into four sub-committees, for (1) collecting funds; (2) getting the names of all the children; (3) purchasing the gifts; (4) setting up and preparing the tree.

The name collecting committee had no small job. It was announced that any child born before the tree was held would have a gift. One consequence of that was the serious discussion among some of the women as to whether certain of the "expected" would arrive on time. Many of the parents could talk little English, and the names of their children were often fearful and wonderful to us. They also, in some cases, seemed to fear there was a "joker" somewhere concealed. "How much do we pay?" In their home lands Santa Claus seemed to have been a stranger. The labour of the committee resulted in a list of about two hundred and fifty children.

The finance committee collected two hundred and fifty dollars with no trouble at all. Then the gift buyers faced a peculiar problem. Allowing services which should be obtainable here, and it is time they shook themselves out of an inferiority complex which has tended to retard the town's normal development.

The Journal has tried to hammer it into some business men whose activities are confined solely to their own shop counters. It has appealed for their support for the Board of Trade, which some say has received nothing more than sufficient to purchase postage stamps and a page in the Red Trail map.

probably mothers and fathers now, who were present as children at the tree thirty years ago I extend to them most hearty greetings.

SYNOPSIS

Camilla Hoyt and Peter Anson, young and in love, marry secretly, deciding to live their own lives apart until Peter is able to provide for her. Peter is a young, struggling sculptor trying to win a competition for a scholarship abroad and Camilla is the adopted daughter of a wealthy family. She is not to inherit money when she comes of age and so is studying commercial art in the hope of landing an agency job. Others in the story are Avis Werth, another wealthy girl who is trying to win Peter, Sylvia Todd, Peter's model, and Gus Matson, his former roommate with whom he has quarrelled. At a party at an exclusive club Peter entertains Camilla's guests with impersonations. When the rest of the members of the party go to a cabaret to continue the party, Peter and Camilla slip off to the beach by themselves and fall asleep on the sand. When they awake it is early morning and Avis and another boy are standing near them. This makes it necessary for Camilla to announce before the party that she and Peter are married. Avis is stunned and Camilla's mother likewise. Camilla decides that she must leave the home of her adopted parents immediately and go to live with Rose, her sister, who is a file clerk in a business house. They decide to take an apartment. Bowman and Weeks, an advertising agency, where Camilla has submitted some of her work, send for her and tell her they have a new account which requires unusual treatment of juvenile art. To Camilla's surprise she learns that the account is that of her foster father's company, which has decided on an extensive campaign to bolster up lagging business. After a conference with Mr. Bowman, Camilla decides to tempt the work. With ideas running riot in her head she goes home and spends the night sketching. In the morning, armed with her sketches, she sets out for the agency. The critics were enthusiastic about her work, and Mr. Weeks offers her a salary of $50.00 a week to start and a prospect of having it doubled. She goes to keep a dinner engagement with Peter.

(Now Go On With The Story)

CHAPTER XXXII

Peter detected her electrified manner the moment he saw her, and thought he never had seen Camilla so lovely. He took both her hands in his, gently, and poured his love and adoration into her eyes with his gaze. "Camilla, I can't endure this—sweet agony of living without you any longer."

"Even the agony is sweet," she asked.

"Yes, because I live every hour in the anticipation of seeing you again." She smiled into his eyes, happily. "Then our plan is a huge success. That is just the way I wanted it to be. Don't you see, dear, if I were with you always, there would be no sweet agony of anticipation? And that would be tragic—very tragic for us. Half of the joy of life is anticipation."

He sighed with resignation. "Why do I argue with you about coming to me when I know I can't take care of you?"

"We're not going to argue about it, Peter. That's all settled. Besides, tonight is a very special celebration. I can't wait another minute to tell you my secret, so let's go in and sit down where we can talk. Do you suppose we can get the same table we had on our wedding night? This occasion is almost as important."

"It must be important, if it makes you so beautiful." His eyes did not leave her face, as he tucked her hand into his arm and they entered through the gracious doorway of Charm Cottage again.

Camilla glanced up from the menu delightedly. "Here is the same special menu we had for our wedding dinner, Peter."

"Then that's what we're having. Okay?"

"It couldn't be better."

"Two special dinners," he said to the hovering waitress. "Now tell me," he folded his arms on the table and faced Camilla eagerly. "You have a position?"

"Oh, yes, but that isn't the best part of it," she exclaimed. "Let me begin at the very first and tell you everything."

He laughed agreement. "Suspense, thrills and all. It promises to be dramatic."

It was, he had to admit when she had finished. His heart swelled with pride for her success and ached a little with regret—not because he envied her, but because she was so exquisite and precious that he wanted to claim his right to take care of her and spare her all the sordid demands and sacrifices which even so promising a future involved.

He knew that this sudden achievement flooded the whole world with golden light for her, like the varicolored spotlights on the stage enhance soiled costumes, worn property and faulty makeup.

She had yet to learn that for every victory there is some defeat, for every joy some disappointment and heartache, for every task achieved some hour of toil and anxiety. He knew that Camilla would meet these challenges gallantly, of course. But he wished that he might spare her any of the disillusion and could sort out for her only the sparkling gems of genuine worth, sparing her the disillusion and disappointment of synthetic substitutes which prevailed their majority in everything that belonged to life.

Camilla deserved to be treasured like a precious jewel, herself, yet she belonged to him and he could not lift a finger to protect her from the least need or anxiety. Rather, he had added to these. A fierce determination burned within him while he watched her happy face. He would give his soul to keep her happy like that, always, he thought.

Ms. Hoyt accepted the news of Camilla's position and her departure from her home with resigned cheerfulness. She had not gotten her objective, but to her way of thinking, Camilla would live to see the day when she would regret her rash determination to be independent and master of her own destiny.

In Mrs. Hoyt's past experience, youth profited by the wisdom of its elixir or repaid the consequences of its folly. But hers was a mind that dwelt in the past in ancestors, social registers, inherited fortunes and blue-blooded crevices.

Her mind obstinately denied what her eyes beheld: proud names made ignominious and supported by plean worth, the rapid rise of a social order which recognized ability above class, established fortunes tottering by the hour while new ones of magic-beamstalk growth replaced them, life that loved and laughed and snapped its fingers at amug convention.

She had been trying to fit a product of this modern age to the pattern of two generations before. No wonder she had failed to accomplish her purpose. Strange, that she had selected this child of foreign parentage to replace those denied her. Just another inconsistency of human emotions, that the beautiful little child had appeared so strongly to her motherless heart.

"I hope you won't think I am ungrateful if I leave you before the end of the summer?" Camilla inquired anxiously, after she had listened with calm patience to her foster mother's surprised comments upon her new position.

"But I don't see why you should. If you have to work in an office all day, it would be much easier for you to stay here until you are adjusted. For that matter, you need not leave here at all this year. We'd really like to have you with us, even if you are working for yourself." Her compromise was offered with more willingness than she would have admitted to herself.

"That's the kind of you, but I prefer to do all the adjusting now and have it over with. I really could not feel as if I were independent so long as I lived here with you, in such circumstances as my salary could not afford. Besides, Rose needs me for awhile. I believe we can do a lot for each other while I am waiting for Peter to become established."

Mrs. Hoyt sighed heavily. "I'm afraid, Camilla, that never will be. A man has to have more than ambition to succeed, and Peter's opportunities are so limited. I don't know why."

"Please, let's not go over all that again," Camilla entreated. "I know why I married Peter, and I'd marry him again, even if I thought he had no chance. But he has. He does have more than ambition. He has talent, which will win out sooner or later."

Mrs. Hoyt's grievous eyes still accused her gravely while she resumed her tolerant acceptance of the situation. "Just where do you propose to live, Camilla. I hope you will consider that you have been a Hoyt for most of your life." Already, she was reaching out tentacles into Camilla's future life, in an attempt to order it according to her desires, as she had done in the past.

"I can't very well consider anything except the total of mine and Rose's salaries," she protested. "After all—I'm sorry—but it was you who changed my position from that of a girl, before I became Camilla Anson. That is what I shall have to be—a working girl and the wife of a genius. I'll look for an apartment as near town as rents will permit, so that we can save time for house-keeping. Somewhere in the sixties or seventies, probably."

"But that's an impossible location," objected the horrified Mrs. Hoyt.

"How, impossible?"

"Why—so very common and unattractive. How could you endure living in such surroundings?"

"I don't expect to gratify my beauty-loving eyes for awhile. If we have a clean room in an agreeable atmosphere, it will do until we can afford better. That may be even sooner than we hope," she added optimistically, pulling a wide-brimmed panama hat over her soft curls and tucking in the ends of her black jacket that persisted in peeping curiously into her face and shining eyes.

"But I must hurry along and find just such a place to-day, so we can get settled tomorrow, rest Sunday and be ready to work on Monday. I'll see you at dinner."

THAT DEPRESSED FEELING IS LARGELY LIVER

Wake up your Liver Bile —Without Calomel

You are "feeling poor" simply because your liver is putting its daily two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels. Digestion and elimination are both hampered, and your entire system is being poisoned.

What you need is a liver stimulant. Something that goes faster than bile, neutralizes water, breaks down acids or removes bile or removes bile only when the bowels—ignoring the real cause of trouble—are clogged.

Take Carter's Little Liver Pills. Purely vegetable. No harsh solvent chemicals! Safe. Sure. Ask for them by name. Refuse substitutes. Be, at all drug stores.

Plaint Of Western Australia

Petition Parliament For Right To Secede From Commonwealth

Unique in history of the British Empire will be the petition to the King and Imperial parliament setting forth the case for secession of the state of Western Australia from the Australian commonwealth.

This petition is now being considered and prepared for submission to the legislature of Western Australia. It follows the state-wide referendum of nearly a year ago when the voters registered a majority of almost two to one in favor of secession.

A special secession committee is also preparing a 300-word report on the question. The petition, when approved by the state legislature, will be forwarded to His Majesty and to the house of lords and house of commons in London.

Western Australia, with a population of 440,000 and area of 975,000 square miles, ascribes its acute financial difficulties to disabilities under the federal constitution. The state's desire for secession is increased by her geographical position, separated as she is from other parts of the commonwealth by a thousand miles of desert.

Little Helps For This Week

"I will be glad and rejoice in Thy mercy, for Thou hast considered my trouble. Thou has known my soul in adversities."—Psalm 31:7.

All by Thee is ordered, chosen, planned. Each drop that fills my daily cup. Thy hand Prescribes for mine none else can understand; And all is known to Thee.

—A. L. Newton.

God knows us through and through. Not the most secret thought we hide from ourselves is hidden from Him. As then we know ourselves through and through we come to see ourselves as God sees us, and then we can catch some little glimpse of His designs with us, how each ordering of His providence, each checking of our desires, each failure of our hopes is just fitted for us, and for something in our own spiritual state which others know not of, and of which then we know not. Until we come to this knowledge we must take all in faith, believing, although we know not, the goodness of God towards us. As we know ourselves we thus far know God.—E. B. Pusey.

Seditious Persons Advised To Give Manitoba A Wide Berth

Persons whose activities are seditious were warned to give Manitoba a wide berth by Hon. W. J. Major, attorney-general, in the Manitoba legislature. Mr. Major's warning came in the debate on the speech from the throne.

"Persons who called themselves Communists, and others who professed to be ultra-nationalists were all cut from the same cloth," Mr. Major said. "They had for their aim the disruption of law and order and the destruction of government."
